May 5, at half-past 8 o'clock. In the home of the bride's mother, in Boush Street, Norfolk.

Miss McLean to Wed.
The engagement has been announced of Miss Rebekah McLean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLean, of New York, to Lieutenant J. deB. W. Gardner, of West Point. The wedding will take place some time in June, and the young couple expect to spend their summer abroad. Lieutenant Gardner is a nephew of Colonel Gardner, of Maryland, and from him will inherit the old estate of the family in Maryland.

Mack-Balthis.
Paymaster H. H. Balthis, U. S. N., and Mrs. Balthis have just announced the engagement of their daughter, Madge, to Lieutenant Jacob Arthur Mack, of the Coast Artillery, Fortress Monroe. The marriage will take place in Portsmouth during May.

Wed in Famous Mansion.
One of the most prominent weddings in the South during the week was that of Miss Harriott Horry Rutledge, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Henry Middleton Rutledge, and Judge Paul Edward Seabrook, son of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Whitmarsh Seabrook, of South Carolina. The ceremony took place in the large ballroom of Hampton plantation, which has been in the Rutledge family for over 200 years, where George Washington once breakfasted with Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Horry. Rev. Robert Wilson, of Charleston, S. C., was the officiating clergyman.

Masses of pink azaleas and ropes of Southern smilax adorned the room, while the parlors were decorated in Easter lilacs and evergreens.

Miss Mary W. Middleton, of Roanoke, Va., played the wedding march; George Heyward, Jr., of Savannah, was best man, and Miss Mary Pinckney Rutledge, the youngest sister of the bride, was her maid of honor.

In and Out of Town.
Mrs. James N. Williamson, Jr., of Burlington, N. C., is expected to arrive in Richmond about April 20 to spend some time with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Saunders in their home, 604 West Franklin Street. Mrs. Williamson will be pleasantly remembered in Richmond, where in her girlhood she was extremely popular as Miss Mary Saunders, and she will be welcomed by her host of friends here.

Miss Katherine Fontaine, of the University of Virginia, who has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Lou Belle Cateby Jones, for two weeks, is now with Miss Amy McRae Werth in her home, 1725 Park Avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Martin, of Norfolk, is the guest of Miss Helen McIntyre.

Miss Zayde Branch will not return to New York to school yet, but is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr Branch. Miss Katharine Banning, of Los Angeles, Cal., who was her guest for the Easter holidays, has returned to Miss Spencer's, in New York. Miss Beatrice Sterling, of New York City, who arrived last Tuesday, is Mrs. Branch's attractive guest now, and is very popular in Richmond society, having spent some time here during the winter season.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. White, Miss Elise Parkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Strudwick have returned from Norfolk, where they were guests at the Cooke-Royser wedding on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson Hall, whose marriage was celebrated on April 10 at Bou Air, are spending their honeymoon at Old Point, and will return to Richmond late in the week.

Miss Ottoline Culpeper and Beatrice Kirk, of this city, have been during Easter week guests of Miss Margaret Ritchie Dongan in Court Street, Portsmouth, where they have been delightfully entertained.

Little Miss Anne Pendleton, the very attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Pendleton, of Louisa county, has been spending the week very pleasantly with her cousin, Miss Ella McCarthy, at her home, 8 East Main Street.

Mrs. Blackiston, of Farmville, is spending some time here.
